

Patrick Byakagaba

Lecturer in the Department of Environmental Management. He holds BSc Forestry from Makerere University, Masters in Natural Resources Management and Sustainable Agriculture from the Norwegian University of Life sciences and PhD from Makerere University. He carried out post doctorate research in oil and gas governance in the Albertine region of Uganda. He is currently doing research on the Political Ecology of Shea Butter Tree Conservation in Uganda. He teaches and has research interests in environmental governance assessment and monitoring, environmental policy and legislation, natural resource policies and laws, trade and environment, forestry in development and conflict resolution in natural resource management. He is a member of Uganda Natural Resources Civil Society Organisation Network and several working groups involved in national policy and planning processes for environment and natural resource sub-sector in Uganda. He has published over 23 papers and won 2 research grants.