

Alex Nimusiima

Lecturer in Meteorology and Climate Science. He holds a PhD in Climate Science and Master of Science in Applied Meteorology from the University of Reading, UK. He has been involved in a number of projects on climate change in the region. He is a member of the Coordinated Downscaling Experiments (CORDEX) Africa group that is responsible for understanding the climate patterns of the African continent using climate models. He has served as climate modeling expert in various projects in Uganda such as Uganda Second National Communication to UNFCCC of 2013, Uganda Climate Change Policy of 2012 and others. He has 4 publications.